

Call for Global Authors & Contributors

Faith & Farming Book Project

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

You are warmly invited to join us for a webinar calling for authors and contributors from around the world to take part in a Faith & Farming book writing project! Our vision is to create a resource for Christians involved in agriculture as well as Bible schools and community leaders globally. We aim to provide a practical, accessible theology that challenges all of us to take farming seriously as a sacred vocation. It will empower farmers in their work and help families, churches and communities flourish through a biblically inspired vision for agriculture.

A Unique Chapter Structure

To ensure the book is both engaging and pedagogical, every chapter will follow a specific "Blueprint":

1. The Narrative: A real-world story or case study.
2. The Theology and Practice: Accessible text exploring biblical and agricultural principles.
3. The Reflection: Group discussion questions for students and practitioners.

We Are Looking for You

We are seeking a diverse group of contributors from across the globe. We are specifically looking for:

- Theologians with a heart for the land
- Agricultural practitioners with a deep faith
- Storytellers who can document a Biblically inspired vision in action
- Editors with an eye for detail and good style
- Those with gifts in project management

Note on Co-Authoring: We encourage co-authoring partnerships. If you are a practitioner who has a great story but wants a partner for the theological text (or vice-versa) we want to help facilitate those connections.

Language

- The publication will be in English initially.
- We will be open to receive contributions in other languages.
- The webinar will be in English with an interpretation channel in French.
